P. A. PETERSON

MY PHANTOM.

There's a wrinkled old man called Care,
With thin and scraggy hair,
Who stands by my side all day
And follows me everywhere.

In the night I wake with a start,
I find him there at my bed;
I'm chilled by his icy gaze,
And my prayers are left unsaid.

When I stretch my hands toward the light
And the promise he seems near,
I shudder in sudden dread
As I see this ghost appear.

His cheeks are sunken with age;
His eyes are hollow and dim;
His breath I breathe in the air,
And I'm growing to look like him.

Go where I will or may,
This old man holds me fast,
And so it will ever be,
As long as my life shall last.

—Lionel Stanfield in Opera.

WELSH SUPERSTITIONS.

They Associate Spectral Hounds With Mountain Storms.

One of the many curious superstitions of the Welsh peasantry is that of Cron Anwn, or "the spirit hounds of the air." When a storm rages over the mountains of Wales, the peasant will tell you that his car can discern the howl of the Cron Anwn mingled with that of the wind, but sufficiently clear and distinct to admit of no mistake of what it is.

These "spirit hounds," he tells you, are the spectral dogs which hunt the souls of the dead, or which foretell, by their expectant cry, the approaching death of some person of evil deeds. Few of those who pretend that they can so readily distinguish the cry of the soul hunting pack are willing to admit that they have ever actually seen a Cron Anwn, "for," they say, "who would linger until such specters dawned upon the sight?" They are described by Ffynnon, and also in the "Mabinogion," where it is said they are of a clear, shining white, with red ears. The above seems to be the universal description, and on that account the author of "Mythology of the Ancient Druids" gives it as his opinion that they are really "mystical transformations of Druidish priests, with their white robes and red tresses."

In the popular superstitions of Ireland, where a similar belief in spectral hounds exists, they are said to be "jet black, with eyes and teeth of fire." Old Con McMichael, who murdered 20 persons in the early part of the nineteenth century, and who got rid of his victims by burning their bodies, is said to have been eaten by spectral dogs "that could be seen high in the air awfully rending and tearing his flesh." One of the peculiarities of the Cron Anwn, according to the Rev. Edmund James, is that the farther away they are the louder their cries appear, the sound decreasing as they draw near.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Feeding Habits of the Weakfish.
"The weakfish," said an old fisherman, "appears to be very intelligent and quite well able to provide itself with food. It will come up on the flood and work its way into the shallow places in the flats, looking for things to eat, perhaps for soft shell crabs. It noses the olva, or sea lettuce, about, looking under it for anything that may have been left there by the tide or that may have come there after the tide went out. I've seen weakfish swim under a boat that I was in that was anchored on the flats, on the way to places where the flood tide was making up. As the tide gets higher the weakfish works along the sedge bank. The sedge bank is where the meadow land adjacent to a bay meets the sand; there may be there a bank perhaps 18 inches or 2 feet high at low water, and as the water rises the weakfish swims along this bank, looking, and when the flood tide, still rising, rises above the edge of the bank and runs back in the sedge grass the weakfish goes with it, looking about in the grass for things good to eat just as he did under and about the olva and in the shallow places on the flats."—New York Herald.

Ashanti Names.
There are seven surnames in Ashanti corresponding to the days of the week, as follows: Kwasi indicates a man born on Sunday, Kwadjo on Monday, Kwabina on Tuesday, Kwaku on Wednesday, Yao on Thursday, Kofi on Friday and Kwamina on Saturday. These are all accented on the final syllable.

THE WOMAN

—who takes the surest way to gain a beautiful color and a wholesome skin will not take the cosmetics, paints and powders which soon injure the skin. Sal-low or wrinkled face, dull eyes and hollow cheeks, together with low spirits, follow the derangements, irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to the sex. All women require a tonic and nerve at some period of their lives. Whether suffering from nervousness, dizziness, faintness, displacement of womanly organs, catarrhal inflammation of the lining membranes, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It's a medicine which was discovered and used by an eminent physician for many years in all cases of "female complaint" and those painful disorders that afflict womanhood. If women are overworked, run-down, tired or sleepless, if they are irritable, morbid and suffer from back-ache, they should turn to the right means for a permanent cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just such a case for it regulates and strengthens the special functions, builds up and invigorates the entire female system.

DISEASE OF WOMEN.
Mrs. Cora S. Wilson, of Carlsbad, Cal., writes: "I cannot say too much for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has done for me what I felt it my duty to say to all women who are suffering from any disease of the uterus that it is the best medicine on earth for them to use; I cannot praise it too highly for the good it did me. If any one doubts this, give them my name and address."

A pamphlet, containing a vast number of testimonials with reproduced photographs of those cured and giving full name and address of each, will be mailed to any address free of cost. Dr. Pierce's large Treatise (168 pages) profusely illustrated with wood engravings and colored plates mailed post paid on receipt of 10 cents in stamps. MASONIC INSTALLATION.
A Social Entertainment, Presentation of Jewels and a Banquet.
A joint installation took place last evening of the officers of Reno Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M., Reno Chapter No. 7, E. A. N., and Adah Chapter No. 122, O. E. S., at Masonic Hall. The ceremonies were public and quite a number of the wives, daughters, mothers and sisters of the members of the different branches of the order were present.
The ceremonies commenced by the installation of the officers-elect of Reno Lodge, F. & A. M., Past Master Robert Lewers acting as installing officer, assisted by L. L. Crockett, P. M. Following are the officers of the lodge for the ensuing year: A. S. Bird, W. M.; L. J. Cobb, S. W.; W. H. Noyes, J. W.; T. K. Hyman, Treasurer; S. M. Jamison, Secretary; S. Summerfield, S. D.; Fred Stevens, J. D.; B. F. Bobo and W. A. Martin, Stewards; W. L. Bechtel, Marshal; A. L. Williams, Tyler.
The officers of Reno Chapter were installed by R. L. Fulton, P. R. H. P., assisted by W. L. Bechtel, P. H. P., and are as follows: J. M. McCormack, H. P.; L. L. Crockett, K.; A. D. Bird, S.; H. P. Kraus, Treasurer; W. L. Bechtel, Secretary; W. H. Noyes, R. A. C.; L. J. Cobb, O. of H.; S. Summerfield, P. S.; B. F. Bobo, M. of 1st V.; Henry Anderson, M. of 2nd V.; G. H. Fogg, M. of 3d V.; Charles Courtis, G.
The officers of Adah Chapter, O. E. S., were installed by Mrs. H. M. Clemons, assisted by Mrs. L. G. Booth, and are: Mrs. H. Sample, W. M.; S. Summerfield, A. M.; Miss Grace Ward, Secretary; Mrs. P. Stanton Marshall, Treasurer; Mrs. Polly Martin, C.; Mrs. Carrie Jones, A. C.; Miss Summerfield, Adah; Mrs. M. Nathan, Ruth; Mrs. W. H. Noyes, Esther; Miss Lillie Stocker, Martha; Mrs. Etta Ruhe, Electa; Mrs. Mattie Williams, M.; Mrs. Mary Kienast, Chaplain; Mrs. Coffin, Warden, and A. S. Williams, Sentinel. Mrs. Layton, Organist.
PRESENTATION OF JEWELS.
At the conclusion of the installation jewels were presented.
Mrs. Layton, in behalf of the Adah Chapter, presented A. D. Bird, Past Patron, with a handsome keystone, which she hoped he would accept as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the members. Mr. Bird accepted the token and said that he loved all the ladies, including his wife.
Mrs. L. G. Booth presented Past Matron Mrs. H. M. Clemons with a gold jewel, saying:
Sister Clemons, Past Worthy Matron: It affords me great pleasure to respond to the request of our Past Worthy Patron, Brother Bird, in behalf of our brothers and sisters to present to you our annual offering, the Past Matron's Jewel.
You are now added to the number who have received the highest honors that can be conferred by our Chapter, and are now entitled to recognition from the Order for duties well performed.
Duties performed so well that you have advanced the welfare of Adah Chapter most remarkably during your term of office. Under these circumstances it is with pleasure that we add your name to the jeweled ranks of our Chapter, and place the record of your kind words and acts among the good deeds of your companions.
This jewel, so peculiarly emblematic of our beautiful lessons, we intrust to your keeping, knowing that you will look beyond its outward beauty to the silent teachings beaming from every point.
As pure as the gold of which this jewel is made, as faithful as Adah, as obedient to the demands of justice as Ruth, as trustful and hopeful as Martha, as steadfast in convictions of right as Electa, recognizing the right in others as we claim it for ourselves, should our lives be toward each other and to the world about us.
So has it been with you, "Happy yourself in making others happy," and trusting only in the reward which comes from a knowledge of duties well performed.
Thus have you illustrated in your life the principles of our Order, earning for yourself the confidence and esteem of all who know you. It is with pleasure, therefore, that we ask you to wear this jewel in remembrance of your brothers and sisters. May its bright reflections be to you the fraternal greetings of Adah Chapter, ever remembering that above and beyond the changing scenes of time our regard for you will be as bright as this beautiful emblem, as enduring as its shining gold.
At the conclusion of the installation of the Chapter officers, W. L. Bechtel stepped forward and addressed J. M. McCormack as follows:
"You have been elected and installed a third time. You have governed the Chapter wisely and faithfully, and in behalf of its members I take pleasure in presenting you with this token of their respect, a Maltese Cross."
Mr. McCormack responded feelingly. The jewel is a beautiful Maltese cross and engraved as follows: "Presented by Reno Chapter No. 7, R. A. M., to J. M. McCormack," also with the name of his lodge and DeWitt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar.
S. Summerfield, in behalf of Reno Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M., presented Robert Lewers with a beautiful Past Master's apron. It was composed of a pure white lamb skin, having on the upper portion an "all-seeing eye," and further down the Masonic emblem of the square and compass in silver and gold. A large gold star, in the center of which appears a genuine pearl rested just above the square and between the extended points of the compass. The apron was trimmed with blue silk and

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

heavy bullion fringe and was an elegant token of the respect in which the recipient is held by the members of his lodge.

In presenting the apron Mr. Summerfield said:
"Past Master Lewers—To me has been delegated by the officers and the brethren of Reno Lodge No. 13, F. & A. M., the pleasant privilege of delivering to you a memento of their appreciation of the fervency, the zeal and the fidelity with which you have for two years discharged the responsible duties of Worthy Master of this lodge of Free and Accepted Masons. With your permission I now attire you with this lamb skin, or white leather apron, an emblem of innocence and the distinguished badge of a Mason."
"In language familiar to the brethren of our fraternity, but more significant than any which I can frame, I deem it appropriate to say: 'It may be that, in the coming years, upon your head shall rest the laurel leaves of victory; on you breast may hang jewels fit to grace the diadem of an Eastern potentate; nay, more than these, with light added to the coming light, your ambitious feet may tread round after round the ladder that leads to fame in our mystic circle, and even the purple of our fraternity may rest upon your honored shoulders; but never again from mortal hands, never again, until your enfranchised spirit shall have passed upward and inward through the pearly gates, shall honor so distinguished, so emblematic of purity and all perfections, be bestowed upon you as this which I now confer. Let its pure and spotless surface be to you an ever-present reminder of a purity of life and rectitude of conduct, a never-ending argument for nobler deeds, for higher thoughts, for greater achievements.'"
Mr. Lewers replied in a few well chosen words, expressing his appreciation of the handsome present and the great value in which it would be held.
Mrs. Layton presided at the organ during the ceremonies of installation, adding greatly to the beauty of the work.
The whole concluded with a sumptuous banquet prepared by the ladies of the Eastern Star and the large crowd present were royally entertained by the three lodges.

THE SCHOOL CHILDREN'S "EXAMINER."

What the Reno Correspondent Writes.
The Christmas number of the San Francisco Examiner was written up by the school children. Miss Edna Williams, the pupil selected to represent Reno and vicinity, writes as follows:
"Reno is in a beautiful valley walled in by hills and mountains, and the fast-flowing and picturesque Truckee river flows right through the town. East and west of us and but a few miles away, are hot springs of more or less value as health resorts. These are Steamboat Springs and Laughon's Springs. Though we have a very moderate climate, snow-capped mountains are within sight the year round and but a few miles away."
"I think young people nowadays have great opportunities for improvement and great temptations to evil. In Reno excellent public schools and a State university are open to everyone who desires to learn. Our schools are progressive and, we believe, fully up to date. Music and drawing are interesting features, but the higher mathematics and Latin we find pretty hard, and some of us can't see why they are so important. Can't school work be arranged so as to bear more largely in the direction of our needs in life? I know some young people look at things in this light and wonder why education cannot be made easier and more practical; but perhaps we are longing for the impossible and that what we learn well must be the result of severe self-effort, whether we think it practical or otherwise."
"There are many temptations for young people. We love liberty, but many of us have too much. School girls and boys ought not to be on the streets at night, and frequently out to theatres and parties. They should be at home; but I think home should be made pleasanter than any other spot in the world for each boy and girl, and then they would prefer its influence and pleasures to those of other places, thus doing away with much evil and scandal."
Young people generally, I think, realize that they are pretty smart, and possibly they have too high an opinion of themselves. But if the present age is so much in advance of all others, why are not the children ahead of those of former generations.
"Reno. EDNA WILLIAMS."
"A SOCIAL LION."
Dan Sully, the Great Irish Comedian, To-Morrow Night.
To-morrow (Saturday) evening, Dan Sully, the Irish-American comedian, will appear at McKissick's Opera House in his latest comedy, "A Social Lion," which is brimful of comedy and song. As Sully is so well known it is not necessary for us to comment on his merits, suffice it to say he is the most original and artistic Irish comedian on the stage to-day. His support is strong and there is no doubt the audience will be large on this social event.

Return Thanks.
Many generous persons having contributed to aid the public schools in relieving the needy on Christmas day, Superintendent Bray and the teachers and pupils desire the JOURNAL to return to them hearty thanks. They especially mention the Riverside Mill Co. for 800 pounds of flour, Mr. Ball, Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Rainwater and Dixon Bros. for flour, potatoes, apples, honey, beans and meat; some of the stores for groceries, and many parents for money, clothes, etc.; and J. F. Atkin, Mr. Harrison and Harry Jameson for drays to distribute the supplies.
The following boys aided ably in sending out the supplies: James Smith, Newton Abrahams, Patrick McCarran, Charles Mapes, David Ward, Bennie Smith, Ernest Corris, Percy Bonham, Harry Jameson, John Patterson, Eddie Leeper and some others. Mr. Leslie Jameson also gave valuable help.
The teachers, with hardly an exception, entered heartily into the work, encouraging their pupils to good deeds and the result has been, as the JOURNAL believes, of lasting benefit to the pupils, as a lesson in charity and well-doing, while the recipients of the supplies were doubtless made happier and more comfortable.

Blood Made Pure

Eczema on Face, Neck and Hands
Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured All Impurity.

Mr. Augustus O. Graham
Tulhina, Ind. Tex.
"Our son Augustus was very severely troubled with eczema. Sores broke out on his face, neck and hands, and the slightest scratch on his hands would break out in bad sores. We persuaded him to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has been two or three months since he has been troubled. His hands are quite smooth. Our nephew, Edgar P. Shaver, who lives with us, was afflicted similarly only his case was more severe, accompanied by scrofulous bunches on his neck. He has taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. His skin is as smooth as any one could wish, and the rising on his neck have disappeared." Mrs. M. J. GRAHAM, Box 173, Tulhina, Ind. Tex.

The Photographic Rifle.
The American Nimrod will soon be able to decide to a nicety whether his gun has failed him or not, says a foreign correspondent. He will be able to tell at a glance when he has shot a strutting cock instead of the expected bear, or partridge, riddled one of his hunting
friends or a passerby with buckshot.
This he will do by simply removing from the gun barrel a small photographic apparatus affixed to it. The German emperor recently introduced the "photographic rifle" among his royal guests at Romington prairie. It proved to be an immense success in deerstalking. In this form of hunting the sportsman matches the keenest power of human patience, endurance and skill against the marvelous defensive instincts of the game.

The swift antlered beaver are more frequently wounded than killed outright
by a ball. In that condition they run many miles, with the hounds and hunt-men often following, and even then may escape. The new apparatus adopted by the kaiser shows exactly where the shot took effect, and thus enables the hunter to determine whether or not it will pay to follow up the game.
The naked eye may deceive the hunter, who is usually trembling with excitement. But as the axis of the gun camera always corresponds with the "sight" it must necessarily reflect the exact spot where the bullet is aimed.
The camera opens the moment when the "sight" is taken and closes with the picture fixed in it a fraction of a second before the firing of the shot. The device is light and easily detachable. The hunter's breast pocket serves as a dark room for the records of his skill.

Agricultural Chemistry.
Chemistry as the handmaiden of agriculture has achieved a wonderful success. Fertilizing the fields has not only become a well understood business, but is an exact science. There are methods of recovering waste products and utilizing heretofore useless matter. It is known what is required to produce the best potatoes and other crops, each one having supplied to it the chemical necessities of its existence. Land, sea and the elements are taxed to furnish the constituents necessary to the best growth of vegetation. It would have been a surprise to our ancestors had they been told that there are common plants which derive a very small portion of their substance from the soil, but are fed from the air and water; therefore, to understand the theories of drainage, rainfall, evaporation and absorption are matters of the utmost moment. To nothing does agriculture owe such a debt as to science, for by its means the waste places of the earth can be made productive, and by the introduction of new chemical elements material and unwholesome soils are made fertile and transformed into healthy and agreeable dwelling places.
—New York Ledger.

Gatherings of Fowls Designated.
The following is somewhat technical,
but may be of interest to others besides sportsmen. "Double Barrel" writes:
"In your usually accurate columns I notice that you fall into the common mistake of speaking of a 'covey' of pheasants. I know that many other people do the same thing. The term is wrong as applied to such game. It may be interesting to your readers to know what are the proper names to apply to assemblages of birds, and I therefore send you a short list of them: A covey of partridges; a snipe, or nest of pheasants;
a herd of swans; an exaltation of larks;
a watching of nightingales; a team of ducks; a muster of peacocks; a bevy of quails; a flight of doves; a flock or gaggle of geese; a spring of teal; a fall of woodcocks; a pack of grouse; a sedge of herons; a shoal of cranes; a trip of widow; a wisp or walk of snipe.
There are many others, but these are the principal."—Exchange.

China's Flag.
The flag of China is one of the gayest among ensigns. The body of the flag is pale yellow. In the upper left hand corner is a small red sun. Looking intently at the sun is a fierce Chinese dragon.
The dragon's belly is a brilliant red and white. His long neck is covered with scales. He is standing on his two hind paws and the left foot is raised. His feet are five-toed and slightly hooked. His long, five-forked tail stretches away in the rear. The dragon's neck is arched back. His mouth is wide open, and he looks as if he were about to try to swallow the red sun.

One Way of Obtaining Payment.
"I'll see about it," he said, as he handed the bill to the collector.
"It's only 45 and—"
"I'll see about it, I told you."
"And we need money. It would be a great favor."
"Didn't I say I would call?"
"Yes, but when?"
"Look here," said the debtor, as he took up. "Do you mean to insult me?"
"No, sir. I mean to go down to the newspaper offices and get them to put in a notice that you will soon depart for India. Good day, sir."
"Here, come back. Here's your money. Do you suppose I want 600 collectors making a rush on my office? Please receipt the bill. Sorry I kept your folks waiting for it."—London Globe.

Oxford Press.
The University Press, at Oxford, is not only one of the most remarkable printing establishments in the world, but also one of the oldest. It makes its own type and its own ink, burns its own charcoal for making the ink, makes its own paper, and so on. The famous Oxford India paper is a marvel of compres-sion and strength, and the secret of its manufacture is known only to three persons. From no printing press in the world are so many—1,000,000 of each —Bibles and prayer books issued annually, and types are set up in 819 foreign languages and dialects.
